PURSUANT TO FEDERAL SECURITIES LAWS

I, Richard M. Schwartz, hereby declare under penalty of perjury, as follows:

1. My name is Richard M. Schwartz. I am sole shareholder and President of Casa Marin, a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the State of California. I make this Certification on behalf of the Schwartz Group's Motion for Appointment as Lead Plaintiffs and for Approval of the Selection of Lead Counsel ("Lead Plaintiff Motion").

2. I have reviewed the Schwartz Group's Lead Plaintiff Motion and, on behalf of Casa Marin, have authorized its filing.

3. Neither Casa Marin nor I engaged in any transactions in the securities which are the subject of the action at the direction of plaintiff's counsel or in order to participate in this or any other litigation under the securities laws of the United States.

4. Casa Marin is willing to serve as a representative party on behalf of the class, including providing testimony at deposition and trial, if necessary.

5. Casa Marin's transactions in the Charles Schwab YieldPlus Fund are as follows:

- On 7/13/07, Casa Marin bought 20,703.934 units, at a NAV of $9.66, each, for a total investment of $200,000.

- Thereafter, dividends were reinvested every month automatically in the SchwabOne account, such that the Charles Schwab Account Statement for February 1-29, 2008, summarizes that during the class period CASA MARIN had accumulated 21,450.1350 units for a total of $206,869.15.

- As of March 17, 2008, the end of the previously alleged class period, the price per unit was $7.96, for a total asset value of $170,743.07. Thus, if losses are computed based on the price of the units at the close of the class period, Casa Marin lost $36,126.08.

- On April 1, 2008, CASA MARIN sold all of its YieldPlus Fund investment for $150,443.61. Thus, if losses are computed based on the price at which the units were sold, Casa Marin sustained losses of $56,425.54.

- CASA MARIN has made no other transactions during the class period in the debt or equity securities that are the subject of this action except those set forth in this Certificate, other than such automatic reinvestment of interest and dividends as were reflected on the account statement as described above.

6. I have not, within the three years preceding the date of the certification, sought to serve or served as a representative party on behalf of a class in an action involving alleged violations of the federal securities laws, except as set forth in the Certifications filed herewith.

I make this Certification on behalf of the Schwartz Group's Motion for Appointment as Lead Plaintiffs and for Approval of the Selection of Lead Counsel ("Lead Plaintiff Motion").

2. I have reviewed the Schwartz Group's Lead Plaintiff Motion and, on behalf of the Trust, have authorized its filing.

Thus, the Trust's Charles Schwab Account Statement for February 1-29, 2008 states that as of February 29, 2008, the Trust owned 22,377.9270 units, for a total cost basis of $215,810.48. As of March 17, 2008, the end of the previously alleged class

It is Lovitt & Hannan, Inc.'s ability to assemble the best available team to try and win large business and commercial cases that distinguished us. The heart of L&H's practice is complex litigation. We are experts in handling individual lawsuits, class actions, and derivative actions, involving financial and securities fraud, antitrust, bankruptcy, RICO, director and officer claims, shareholder derivative claims, investor claims, breach of fiduciary duty claims, governmental false claims, unfair lending practice claims, contract disputes, and negligence by professionals including accountants, investment bankers, investment advisors, and attorneys.

OF COUNSEL TO: BARTKO, ZANKEL, TARRANT & MILLER, P. C.

Lovitt & Hannan, Inc. ("L&H") traces its origins to a partnership founded in 1970 by Ronald Lovitt & J. Thomas Hannan.

Lovitt & Hannan, Inc. often combines with other lawyers and law firms who bring different strengths to the particular representation. Over the years, the firm has developed a unique business model, based upon the philosophy that a client is best served by assembling the most qualified team to handle any particular assignment (as opposed to simply assigning matters to personnel or departments within the traditional pyramid structure typical of many law firms).

From the beginning, L&H has specialized in the practice of complex commercial litigation. Frequently we have undertaken matters on a full or partial contingency basis, based on our belief that a client, whether plaintiff, defendant or third party, is in many instances best represented by counsel with a stake in the outcome of the litigation.

Few attorneys or law firms have successfully tried complex commercial cases, including class actions and derivative actions, to favorable verdicts, judgments or settlements at trial. L&H has consistently done so.

Together with the team assembled for each project, Lovitt & Hannan, Inc. offers effective representation, providing expertise and leadership in the design, prosecution and resolution of complex litigation.

LAWYERS - TRIAL PRACTICE AND COMPLEX CIVIL LITIGATION
OF COUNSEL TO: BARTKO, ZANKEL, TARRANT & MILLER, P. C.

McCubbery v. Boise Cascade; & Head v. Boise Cascade; Mancini v. GAC; Weiss v. GAC; O'Neil v. Horizon Corporation. L&H successfully prosecuted several of the first major consumer class actions in the United States. The fundamental claims were for investor fraud in connection with sales of undeveloped property through the use of misleading high pressure sales tactics. Each of these cases was settled in the 1970's for recovery that included re-design of the paper communities involved, cash payments and reductions in purchase prices.

In Re Arizona Dairy Products Litigation. L&H represented the State of Arizona in antitrust litigation against the country's major dairy producers. After the class was notified by having the notice printed on defendants' milk cartons, the case settled on the eve of trial for more than $15 million. Then Attorney General Corbin described the recovery as the largest in the history of the state.

Cavanaugh v. Zell. L&H prosecuted a misrepresentation claim on behalf of the sellers of a Reno, Nevada office building and apartment building, against an investor and tax specialist lawyers recommended to the sellers by the investor. The case was settled during the jury trial in the late 1970's on confidential terms.

Brinker v. Amalgamated Sugar Company, see State of California v. California and Hawaiian Sugar Co., 588 F.2d 1270 (9th Cir. 1978). L&H represented a class of California consumers against the major domestic sugar producers. The Brinker case established law that California indirect sugar producers were entitled to assert Cartwright Act price fixing claims in a state court. After the 9th Circuit ordered the case remanded to state courts, the case was finally settled in plaintiffs' favor.

Murphy v. Shipowners and Merchants Tugboat Company. L&H represented a competitor in a section 2 antitrust case alleging monopoly of the tugboat industry on San Francisco Bay. The case was successfully tried to a jury and resulted in the opening up of San Francisco Bay to competition in the tugboat business.

Cole v. Benvenuti. L&H represented defendant Cahill Commercial Brokerage and Sacramento's leading real estate development firm in a six-months jury trial that resulted in a hung jury. The plaintiffs' multi-million dollar claims that the defendants were lured away from lucrative employment by the Benvenuti family on the basis of false promises of future employment were thereafter settled on very favorable but confidential terms for our client.

Findley v. U.S. Life. L&H prosecuted a class action alleging the defendant was responsible for financial fraud by a financial services representative. The case was settled just prior to jury trial in 1982 on terms that resulted in full recovery for the class members.

Liston v. U.S. Life. A case that was brought by L&H on behalf of two larger investors who opted to be excluded from the Findley class action. The case was settled on confidential terms favorable to plaintiffs during jury trial.

Exel v. S.W. Forest Industries. L&H represented the European distributor of box making machines against the defendant for antitrust and breach of contract claims. After a successful jury verdict, the case was settled in plaintiff's favor.

Nelson v. Bennett. L&H prosecuted and tried a class action against the promoters of a fraudulent scheme, their lawyers, tax advisors and auditors, to create tax benefits through investment in supposedly superior cows. The case was successfully tried to a jury that returned a favorable liability verdict for RICO and securities fraud violations. The final settlement in the case in 1988 brought the total of settlements for investors to more than $20 million. The United States District Judge who presided at the trial later stated it was "the most notable" civil case he handled during his ten years on the bench.

Heckman v. Ahmanson. 168 Cal. App. 3d 119, 214 Cal. Rptr. 177 (1985). L&H represented a class of investors in a case involving the "greenmailing" of the Walt Disney Corporation by investor Saul Steinberg. L&H's client was granted a preliminary injunction that impounded the greenmail proceeds. The case was settled during jury trial in 1989 for recovery valued at more than $80 million.

Henry v. Hansen. L&H represented minority investors in their derivative suit involving a cable TV business. The allegations that corporate opportunities has been usurped by management were settled during trial in 1990. The terms of the settlements in plaintiff's favor are confidential.

United States of America, ex rel. , Taxpayers Against Fraud, et al. v. Teledyne Industries, Inc., et al. In 1994, L&H worked with four other law firms and the United States Attorney's Office in Los Angeles in prosecuting a False Claims Act case against Teledyne Industries for overcharges in defense contracting. The case settled just before trial in the U.S. District Court in Los Angeles for an amount in excess of $100 million.

Acree v. GMAC Corporation. L&H represented a class of purchasers of automobiles who were required to accept and pay for "force-placed" insurance in connection with their purchases. The allegations included violations of Business and Professions Code §17200 and involved deliberate overcharges for the insurance coverage. After a successful trial of equitable claims to the court and legal issues to a jury, the trial court's judgment in favor of plaintiffs on §17200 equitable issues was overturned on appeal, but the jury verdict for substantial money damages was affirmed on a separate appeal in 2001.

Kenney v. Bear Stearns. L&H represented the trustee in bankruptcy of two corporations, Daisy Systems, Inc. and Cadnetix Corporation, in claims against the investment advisor for the merger of the two companies in a protracted matter that involved overcoming an adverse summary judgment on appeal and a jury trial in which the jury returned a verdict in plaintiff's favor for $108 million against the investment advisor defendant. The case was settled in 2000.

Kenney v. Irell & Manella. L&H represented the trustee in bankruptcy of Daisy

Systems and Cadnetix on a professional negligence claim against the law firm that advised the legal aspects of the merger. The case was settled in 2004 for $14 million, after a trial in the U.S. Bankruptcy Court on a special defense involving tolling of the statute of limitations.

NFT Ventures, Inc. In 1998, the firm represented the founder of Novell, Inc., Ray Noorda, in his family's and other's securities fraud claims against one of the country's major auditing firms. Soon after filing, the case was settled in the client's favor for a substantial sum.
